Kennedy to Cut White House Staff, Fill 80 Top Jobs

Plans to Abolish 'Assistant to President' Post

Will Name Persons For Hundreds of Lesser Positions

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—President-elect John F. Kennedy gave priority attention today to filling about 80 top federal jobs after disclosure that he intends to cut the White House staff deeply—starting at the top.

Kennedy expects to abolish, at least so far as title is concerned, what in the Eisenhower administration has been one of the most powerful positions in government. The job is called "the assistant to the president."

Named Special Council

The man who apparently will come closest to filling that role in the new administration is Theodore C. Sorensen, 32, long-time Kennedy aide who already has been named White House special counsel.

These Kennedy plans were announced late Monday by Clark M. Clifford, Kennedy's chief liaison man with the outgoing Republicans.

Clifford said he gave Kennedy a list of about 80 high level jobs—including Cabinet posts—which must be filled first in order to give the new president complete control of the executive branch when he is inaugurated Jan. 20.

Kennedy also got from Clifford a second list of between 400 and 500 jobs of secondary importance, and a third tabulation of about 1,200 lesser positions—all filled by presidential appointment.

As for the possibility Kennedy will retain some personnel who are in career jobs in these categories, Clifford replied in response to a news conference question: "I am sure that he will."

Dealing with reduction of the White House staff, Clifford said Kennedy had told him it will be "nowhere near as large as it is under the present administration."

On President Eisenhower's immediate staff there are, Clifford said, 31 persons exclusive of secretarial and clerical workers. He added that Truman had a staff of about 15, and said Kennedy had reached no final decision on the exact number to be on his White House roster.

Reason Is Cited

Asked why Kennedy expects to wipe out the position of "the" assistant to the president, Clifford replied: "I think he said only that

Deaths of 5 Men In Car Pose Mystery

PIKEVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Authorities today had conflicting evidence in the death of five men whose charred bodies were found sitting in a parked car near here. Some clues point to murder but others indicate "a tragic mishap," Pike County Prosecutor John Paul Runyon said Monday.

Runyon said officials would withhold further statements until more firm evidence is collected.

X-Rays revealed metal fragments in the chests of four of the bodies. A radiologist said the fragments could be shotgun pellets or rifle bullets.

An autopsy on one body, however, failed to reveal any metal at all. Dr. E. T. Thorsness, the pathologist who performed the autopsy, added:

"This doesn't mean there was no metal present. It's like looking for a needle in a haystack." Dr. Thorsness doubted whether autopsies would be performed on the other victims.

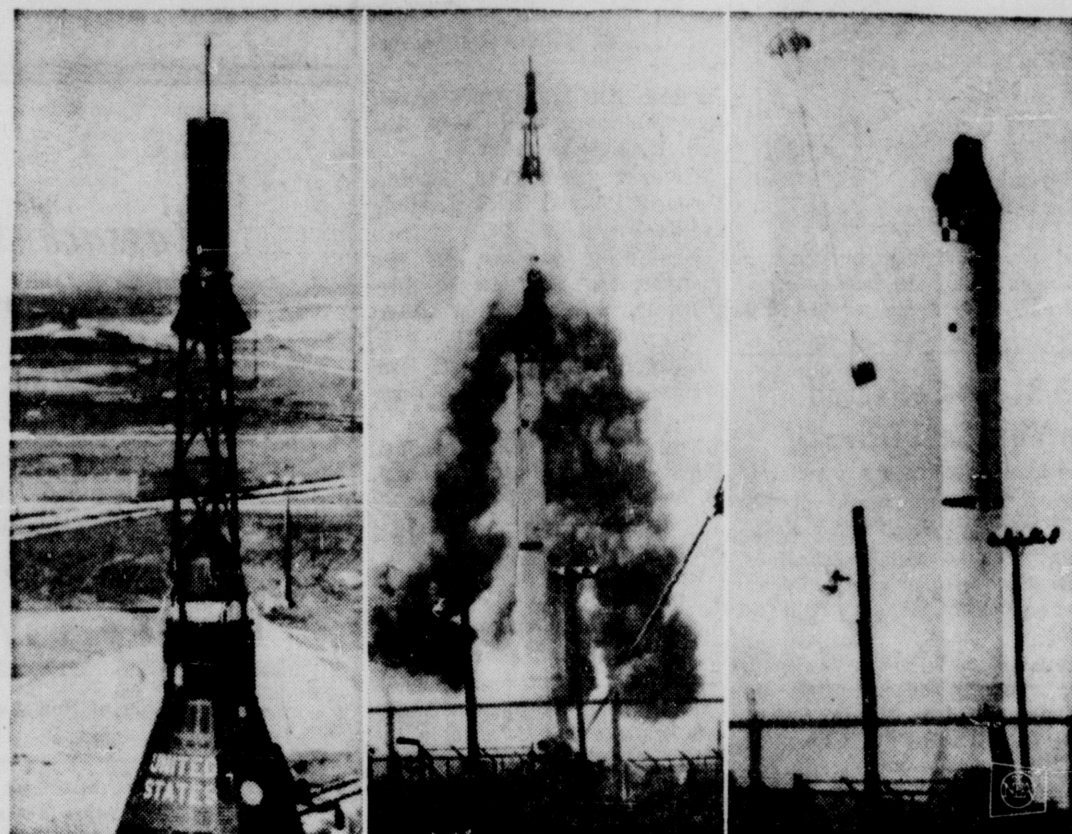

The dead men, all from the remote Greasy Creek area of this mountainous Eastern Kentucky county, are:

Bud Hopkins, 24, and his brother, Louie, 16; Harmon Robinson, 42; Harvey Ratliff, 24, and Denver Yates, 25. All but Louie Hopkins, who was unemployed, were coal miners.

Their bodies were found early Sunday in a car parked in a creek bed on Greasy Creek Road, 17 miles southeast of here. The car's interior was scorched, but its exterior was not damaged.

State police said the car's gas tank was empty, but they could not tell whether gasoline had been used to set the men afire.

County Home Defects Cited

Water, Sewage Conditions Scored

LISBON — The Columbiana County Board of Health at its meeting Monday at the Courthouse recommended that a report of sanitarian Harry N. Stockdale listing unsatisfactory conditions at the County Home be submitted to the county commissioners.

County Home superintendent Russell Phillips, County Board of Visitors and County Health and Safety Council.

Stockdale's report cited conditions which are in violation of instructions and recommendations received in the past from F. H. of the Ohio Department of Health, and Dr. C. S. Palmer, county health commissioner.

The report declared a pressure tank and chlorinator had been installed at the home as directed, but are not operative. Nor has a covering been erected over the open reservoir there as instructed Stockdale said.

Stockdale said nothing has been done by the county toward installation of a new sewage disposal plant at the home, replacing the outmoded facilities now in use. He cited "inadequate" toilet, bathing and plumbing facilities.

The sanitarian said the boiler room is in need for immediate attention and requested that the state fire marshal be asked to make an inspection and report his findings and recommendations to the responsible authorities.

Stockdale also reported food service conditions which required attention.

In other business Dr. Palmer gave his monthly report which showed 67 plumbing and 67 sewage permits were issued. Plumbing inspector Earl C. Wang inspected 65 plumbing and 60 sewage in-

'7' Symbol Of Road Tragedy

By The Associated Press
Number 7 became a symbol of tragedy on the nation's highways in the past 10 days.

Three families were virtually wiped out in four accidents, each of which killed seven persons. Twenty of the 28 victims were children. Four were mothers.

Viewing the multiple-death-dealing crashes, the National Safety Council issued a safe driving warning for motorists who will set out Thursday on a Thanksgiving holiday that for some may last four days. Most fatal accidents occur near home, the council said, where most drivers will be operating during the Thanksgiving holidays.

Last of the large-toll accidents occurred Monday in Toltec, Ariz., when a Southern Pacific freight train sliced into an automobile at a crossing. The collision dragged the auto a half-mile, killing Annabelle Martin, 30; her son and daughter, aged 5 and 3; Mrs. Ralph Jewel, 26; her two sons, aged 3 and 15 months, and Ben-

Republicans Push Recounts

Kennedy's Vote Lead Cut to 175,000

WASHINGTON (AP) — Recount requests could delay even longer than usual the final, official tabulation of the vote cast in the Nov. 8 election.

With President-elect John F. Kennedy's popular vote lead now cut below 175,000, Republicans were challenging the results in sections of Illinois, New Jersey and Texas, and looking for possible grounds for similar action elsewhere.

Few, however, expected any overturn of Kennedy's electoral vote margin over Vice President Richard M. Nixon. It is the electoral vote—not the popular vote—which elects a president.

In that tally, Kennedy led Nixon 300 to 223, with 269 needed for election. Fourteen other electors in Alabama and Mississippi, are not pledged to either.

Latest figures on the popular vote, with more than 1,100 precincts still unreported and some absentee ballots still to be counted, stood this way:

Kennedy—33,919,296
Nixon—33,744,669

Kennedy's margin was a bare 174,627 over Nixon, and his share of the vote cast for the two major candidates was 50.13 per cent, to 49.87 for Nixon.

Partial recounts have been started by Republicans in Illinois, with 27 electoral votes, and New Jersey, with 16. In Texas, with 24 electoral votes, a limited court test was arranged of what the Republicans called "frauds and irregularities" in the election.

Even without recounts and challenges, however, some states may not complete their final, official tallies for several more weeks.

Thus far, 11 states have completed the official canvass, and 11 others hope to finish this week. Fifteen other states canvassing boards meet next week.

Some of the 13 others may not finish their counting much before the Electoral College meets Dec. 19 to make official the selection of the next president.

Why, in these days of quick communications, does it take so long to get the vote tabulated? The variety of state laws, special provisions for absentee voting, and sometimes the lack of interest of election officials combine with other factors to delay the count.

Johnson Talks to De Gaulle, Other High French Leaders

PARIS (AP)—Lyndon B. Johnson, U.S. vice president-elect, and French President Charles de Gaulle had a 45-minute conference today. Johnson said they discussed "the wide range of problems confronting the people of the world."

The two men met in De Gaulle's private office. Although it was billed in advance as a courtesy call, the two men immediately got down to serious talk.

Invited by DeGaulle

Johnson is in Paris attending a meeting of parliamentarians from NATO countries. He was invited to the palace in order to give De Gaulle his first official contact with the incoming American administration.

On coming from the meeting, Johnson said he had extended his "felicitations and congratulations" to De Gaulle, who is celebrating his 70th birthday today.

Then Johnson drove across the Seine River to lunch with Premier Michel Debre and a dozen or more French political and government figures.

The vice president-elect was accompanied to De Gaulle's residence by U.S. Ambassador Amory Houghton.

Interviewed After Talk

In a brief interview in the palace courtyard after the talk Johnson said: "We had a very cordial meeting. I felt very stimulated and deeply appreciative for the opportunity to be in the presence of one of the world's great leaders."

Before the De Gaulle talk, Johnson's aides said the vice president-elect had no intention of bringing up at this time any of the issues on which France and the United States have divergent views. It

U.S. Attache Unaware of Soviet Charge

MOSCOW (AP)—The U.S. Embassy was in a flurry today wondering how Maj. Irving T. McDonald Jr. can comply with the Soviet order to leave the country when he doesn't even know he is charged with being a spy.

The officer, from Provincetown, Mass., is so far as the embassy knows—crossing the now-covered plain by train on his way toward Moscow and cannot be reached to be told of the fix he's in.

The Soviet Foreign Office notified the embassy Monday that McDonald, 34, its assistant Air attache, was being expelled on charges of engaging in intelligence activities and had just 48 hours to get out of the country.

The Soviet news agency Tass said McDonald was "caught red-handed taking photographs of military objectives during a trip to the town of Kurgan. Notebooks with intelligence information about defense objectives on the Moscow-Kurgan route were taken from him."

In Washington, State Department officials said McDonald's expulsion did not come as a surprise because it was virtually assured by a Soviet warning given him in August, when another Air attache, Col. Edwin M. Kirton of Palo Alto, Calif., was expelled on spy charges.

It was supposed here that McDonald's expulsion was in retaliation for the arrest of Igor Y. Melekh, chief of the Russian translation of section of the United Nations. Melekh, arrested at his New York apartment Oct. 28, is accused of espionage and faces trial in the United States.

was an opportunity, however, to sound out De Gaulle.

Set for Next Biennium

LISBON — The proposed Highlandtown Lake on Rt. 39, between Wellsville and Salsville, is scheduled for construction during the biennium beginning next July 1.

Lee Roach, assistant chief of the Ohio Division of Wildlife, reported the status of the long-awaited lake to a group of 70 outdoorsmen Monday evening at village hall.

"The lake is one of the books in our capital plan for the next biennium and will cost over one-quarter of a million dollars," Roach said. He added that the project depends on the legislature clearing the funds during the first six months of next year.

State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel of Lisbon assured the group that the legislature will act favorably on the measure.

Roach said the state has acquired 1,394 acres for the Highlandtown project at a cost of $150,000 and will purchase another 1,300 acres in the future to expand the Highlandtown public hunting area.

Plans for Highlandtown dam have been prepared by an outside engineering firm, he said, and are under study in department headquarters.

Two other divisions of the Department of Natural Resources were represented at the meeting.

O. A. Alderman, chief of forestry, discussed the state use of Beaver Creek State Forest and the proposed Yellow Creek State Forest in Columbiana and Jefferson counties.

V. W. Flickinger, chief of parks, reported that neither Guilford Lake nor Beaver Creek State Park have top rating in department plans at present because it has its emphasis now on the Portage Lakes, Pymatungus Dam and Punder Lake in Gauga County.

He said the department sees great possibilities for Beaver Creek State Park. "Development will follow," he said, "but it will be up to groups like you people as to how far we go on it."

Flickinger noted improvements at Guilford in the past five years and credited Wetzel with providing the impetus for most of the improvements.

Fight Stops After Ghanian Diplomat Leaves

Was Accused of Plotting Against Mobutu Regime

LEOPOLDVILLE, the Congo (AP)—Ghana's charge d'affaires Natanuel Welbeck quit his besieged residence for home today after an all-night battle between his U. N. defenders and a Congo army determined to force his ouster from the country.

Welbeck said he had decided to leave, after a long and stubborn refusal, "because my government wants me to." He said he would make another statement upon his arrival at Accra, his capital.

Brought End to Battle

His departure brought to an end a 12-hour battle between United Nations troops and the Congolese army. Fighting broke out after Welbeck refused to leave the Congo as ordered by army commander Col. Joseph Mobutu, who accused him of plotting with deposed Premier Patrice Lumumba against Mobutu's regime.

At least five soldiers were killed and nine wounded.

Among the killed was Col. J. Kokolo, second-ranking officer in the Congo army, the United Nations said.

The Congolese army listed him among four missing.

The United Nations said three of its men were killed and seven wounded. The Congolese listed one killed, two wounded, four missing.

Maj. Gen. Henry J. Alexander, British chief of staff of the Ghana army, drove up to the besieged residence to get Welbeck after reaching an agreement on his departure with Mobutu.

Once they left, the neighborhood quickly returned to normal except for battered Congolese army vehicles on the streets.

At the big military camp, Leopold II, Congolese soldiers were reported screaming for revenge, however.

"You have eaten our colonel," a Congolese officer shouted to Welbeck as the diplomat was escorted from the villa. "If this is true, we will eat all your Ghana soldiers."

Gen. Alexander said he was withdrawing all Ghana riot police from Leopoldville at once.

Ghana's Foreign Affairs Secretary Richard Quarshie was brought to Leopoldville by Alexander, apparently to replace Welbeck.

But Quarshie was arrested in his hotel by Congolese soldiers and held for an hour.

Col. Mobutu appealed for calm

Pauper's Home Yields Fortune

$100,000 Found In Stocks, Bonds

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — His neighbors thought Oscar Hastings was a pauper. He dressed like one. He ate like one. And he had only $2 in his pocket when he died. But the little man of 80-plus was a collector—and what he collected best was money, among other things.

When police entered his untidy, dirt-strewn house here Monday and found his body, they also found, wrapped in twine, such as:

Books, newspapers, magazines, bread wrappers—yes, bread wrappers—cardboard cylinders from toilet paper rolls, old clothes, a box of pocket watches, letters, pencils, shirt studs, hankchiefs and—in the words of Coroner Robert A. Evans—"stack after stack of stuff."

But what surprised them most were the bank books, the dividend checks, the stocks and bonds and the keys to safety deposit boxes that could hold even more mysterious wealth.

Dr. Evans estimated that Hastings was worth between $75,000 and $100,000, most of it in stocks and bonds, and not including what may be found in the safety deposit boxes.

The coroner said Hastings died of natural causes two or three days before police entered his house after being notified by a mailman that letters were piling up in the mailbox.

Hastings used to work in banks. He quit his last job, as a bank bookkeeper, in 1929.

He lived frugally. Dr. Evans said there was a washpan in the sink, indicating that Hastings tried to save water by not turning on the tap too often.

There were written records showing what he paid for meals—13 cents for breakfast, 23 cents for lunch, 43 cents for supper.

"It was a fantastic picture," said Evans, "but something that might happen to anyone... anyone who outlives his own friends."

Police said the courts will appoint an administrator to handle Hastings' estate. Then someone will sift further through the stacks of collected things—"who knows what they may find hidden between the pages of the books," said Evans.

Meanwhile, a 24-hour guard has been placed around the 2½-story brick house to prevent looting... the house where Oscar Hastings lived and died, where he mysteriously accumulated wealth, where his body was found in a room with a bathtub in it. Just a bathtub.

There are more health insuring organizations operating in Texas than any other state. These include 379 insurance companies, two Blue Cross-Blue Shield and Medical Society plans, and 14 other insuring plans.

Reapportionment Suit to be Heard By Supreme Court

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—The U.S. Supreme Court's decision to hear the Tennessee reapportionment suit is a milestone in the struggle of cities to break rural control of state legislatures, spokesmen for the plaintiffs said today.

The court agreed Monday to a hearing on a suit by 10 Tennessee voters who seek redistribution of legislative seats to reflect the shift of population from the farms to the cities.

The decision has significance far beyond the borders of Tennessee.

"The Supreme Court has never before agreed to hear a legislative reapportionment case," said Harris Gilbert, one of several lawyers for the plaintiffs.

The court in a 1946 Illinois reapportionment case said that "courts ought not to enter this political thicket."

Should the court now agree the plaintiffs' constitutional rights have been denied, a new avenue would be opened to advocates of redistricting in states where rural lawmakers have blocked every effort at reapportionment.

The Tennessee Legislature has not been redistricted since 1901, despite a provision in the state constitution that requires a count of qualified voters every 10 years and apportionment of seats in the assembly accordingly.

The chief issue before the Supreme Court is whether the federal courts have authority to compel redistricting of state legislatures. A special three-judge federal panel here, in dismissing the Tennesseeans' suit last Dec. 21, held federal court lacked jurisdiction.

Because Accra, the capital of Ghana, lacks a natural harbor, freighters anchor offshore and deliver freight in two-ton lots to boatmen who paddle a mile to shore in heavy swells.

Boy Who Lied to Get License Is Penalized

LISBON — A 16-year-old East Liverpool youth who lied to get another driver's license after he had received a 15-day suspension on a traffic violation was sentenced to five days in detention in the county jail Monday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

Judge Tobin said the youth, after receiving the suspension, told driver's license department personnel he had lost his license and wanted a duplicate, which he received. Judge Tobin confiscated the duplicate and wrote to the Ohio Department of Motor Vehicles, instructing it not to issue a license to the boy until it receives a letter from the court.

USE OUR CHRISTMAS LAY-AWAY PLAN

THE LEGACY OF AN AMERICAN CHILD
is many good things. A country of abundance to live in. Full opportunity to achieve. The wise guidance of great Americans of the past. These leaders knew that a nation thrives best when its people are independent—free to work and dream—alone, or with others who share their aims. This principle of independence must be guarded continually if the future is to bring still greater progress, and increasing strength.

An example of what the principle of independence can accomplish is your electric service.

It was developed by independent electric companies—so successfully that the work electricity does for every American is equal to the energy of 67 strong men!

These companies—more than 300 of them—serve 4 out of 5 users. Often they work together, interconnecting lines and pooling facilities to improve service and keep the price low.

They will double their supply of electricity in 10 years. They're ready and able to supply all the additional electric service the country will need.

This is a good reason why the federal government need not spend taxpayers' money on more government-owned electric plants and lines. As Abraham Lincoln warned, government should do for people only what people cannot do for themselves.

Boy, Cub Scout Activities

Hanover Twp. Boy Scout Troop 52 The scouts of Troop 52 have participated the past few weeks in many outdoor activities. Among them was a hayride around the Guilford Lake area. Carroll Greene provided the tractor and wagon for transportation. After the ride, games and refreshments were enjoyed at the Greene farm. The troop hiked along the old Sandy and Beaver Canal, east of Hanover, and learned of the route of the canal and some of its history. The supper meal was cooked on the trail; several Scouts also passed their Second Class firebuilding and cooking tests.

The troop took part in the national GET-OUT-THE-VOTE campaign by going from door to door and hanging posters on the doorknobs of homes in the Hanover, Kensington, and Dungan areas.

A campout was held on the Ike Skeels farm at Teegarden near the Salem Reservoir. Fifteen scouts attended the event accompanied by scoutmaster Donald Mayer and Robert Stambaugh. This was a camouflage camp, with the patrols trying to camouflage their tents in separate areas. The Scouts made camouflage suits at recent scout meetings.

New Scouts are Franklin Temple, Danny Reeder, and Michael Falcon of Hanover.

Old clothes are being collected by the troop to be given to a charitable organization in the near future. They are being collected at the troop meeting room, in the Legion Hall in Hanover. If any person would like to donate clothing, please call 223-1961 in Hanover, or notify any Boy Scout in the Hanover troop.

The bulk of the Tuberculosis testing and the blood testing (for Brucellosis) is done by local veterinarians.

Post-Mortem On Ohio Election

The post-mortems on the most surprising upset in the presidential election returns Ohio's vote for Vice President Nixon — are beginning to come through.

This is because the Buckeye State's performance was so stunning a reversal of what was expected by so many people that pundit and political professionals felt compelled to sit down and do some hard thinking before they came up with answers in which they felt secure.

Weeks before Nov. 8 all major pollsters put Ohio in the Kennedy column. Democratic supporters of the senator were confident to a degree that turned out to be excessive. Many Republicans, themselves, could work up only cautious hopefulness about Mr. Nixon's chances, and a lot of others were downright pessimistic.

If the fault for these views can be generalized, it must be said that too many people were too close to the situation or put too much faith in the wrong factors.

TAKE THE 1958 state elections, for instance, when the Democrats swept into the governor's office by an unprecedented margin and captured control of the General Assembly for the first time in 10 years. That made a lot of people think Ohio had shed its traditional conservative complexion.

Then there were people who were led astray by the tremendous crowds Sen. Kennedy drew on his forays into Ohio? These observers overlooked the fact Mr. Nixon also drew tremendous crowds — later in the campaign — and apparently convinced themselves that the size of a crowd is an accurate gauge of what will happen in the polling booths.

And there were people who figured that Cuyahoga County alone could give the Democratic nominee all the votes he would need to guarantee his capture of Ohio's 25 electoral votes. This is related to the belief that, because Ohio is a major industrial state, its organized labor leaders can deliver at the polls a solid bloc of votes that conforms to their thinking.

But Ohio's voters reverted to custom on Nov. 8. Most of them are essentially conservative, albeit they represent a variety of shades of conservatism. They also are enthusiastically independent in their political decisions, and are aided and abetted in this characteristic by their office-type ballot.

CONSEQUENTLY, some Democratic counties went for Nixon while re-electing Democratic legislators and county officials. A couple of Republican counties also went for Nixon but unseated GOP legislators and county officials.

Counties that went for Kennedy as expected did so by smaller-than-expected margins, indicating the voters just do not go to the polls in blocs in Ohio.

In the final analysis, what made the big difference was the fact some Republican leaders refused to surrender. Aware of the underlying political characteristics of Ohioans, they worked hard and dug deep into the grass roots to turn latent forces into active votes.

They left no stone unturned and they took nothing for granted, except perhaps the grim thought that if they lost this one on the heels of the 1958 debacle they really would be finished in Ohio for a long time to come.

They solicited and got an unprecedented amount of volunteer help, and they directed it with their own professional touch. They equaled or surpassed the Democrats in their voter registration drive and they proved that the AFL-CIO's Committee on Political Education has no monopoly on effective get-out-the-vote campaigns.

If Republicans across the country want to change the national result in the future, they will do well to take a good, long look at why Richard Nixon won Ohio with more than 269,000 votes to spare.

Dying a Little In Los Angeles

Every time a major city becomes acutely aware of a traffic jam, it dies a little. When the jam reaches catastrophic proportions, the city dies a lot.

Los Angeles did the dying job big last week when transit workers walked out on their jobs. Its traffic jam was catastrophic and cataclysmic. Experts took pictures of it from the air and the ground. It will go down in urban records as one of the early signs of the decline and fall of the world's greatest concentration of automobiles.

Los Angeles has done everything within the realm of imagination to keep itself from being swamped by automobiles.

It has gouged out spectacular freeways that are so complex it is scarcely a joke that people can starve to death trying to find exits.

It has diverted enormous amounts of public wealth to the construction and maintenance of facilities for keeping the automobile at large and keeping motorists from feeling shut in.

When the Democratic convention was held in Los Angeles last summer, delegates were warned in advance that to get from their hotels to the meeting place would require extreme planning and extra time. It is not unusual in the Los Angeles complex of high-speed highways that can become clogged as if a driver runs out of gas, has a flat tire, a mechanical breakdown, or an accident for adventurers to announce with tremulous pride that they have found a quicker way to get where they are going by using old-fashioned streets.

This is something like the discovery in New York City a few years ago that a man on foot could move cross-town more rapidly than a man in an automobile. New York City is dying a little day by day too, thanks to the way automobiles rule its streets and the destinies of its people.

There has been no word from India lately about the sacred cow problem there, which is similar. The sacred cows can do no wrong. They have superior rights. Wherever they want to go, a path is cleared for them. They cannot be discriminated against, shooed away, molested, or barred from access. Perhaps India is waiting to see what America does about the sacred automobile problem.

Just when you discover what trouble is all about, it's about something else.

The way some women drive, we agree their place is in the home.

Percy Tetlow

Percy Tetlow, who died Saturday, was undoubtedly Salem's foremost soldier in World War I. A veteran also of the Spanish-American war, he organized and trained the original Company D at the start of the first World War. He was a natural leader and was respected and loved for his sincerity and integrity, and especially by the men of Company D who served under him here and overseas.

He ascended to national prominence in the United Workers of America also because of his leadership qualities, despite the fact that he had little formal schooling. He was a capable and forceful speaker and frequently was called back home to speak at Memorial Day services.

A number of years ago he expressed a desire that when the time came he could have a military funeral. His former buddies will carry out that wish here Wednesday, a fitting tribute to a fine soldier and an outstanding citizen.

Good Improvement

Although the project was long overdue, the State Highway Department's Division 4 office deserves a compliment for improving the Routes 62 and 165 intersection by cutting back the hills that protruded almost to the edge of the highway on the west side.

There's little excuse for traffic collisions at the intersection now. Visibility is improved greatly.

Once Over

The first thing Jack Kennedy did after his election emphasizing "the pioneer spirit" and "new frontiers" was to go to Palm Beach, and Miami which haven't seen a pioneer since the days of Henry Flagler and Carl Fisher.

This confuses us somewhat but, as a Florida addict, we are happy over anything that gives us the feeling we are a sturdy explorer when we shove off for the area.

We have never before completely escaped a belief we were a big softy living it up far from frontier life. It's wonderful to feel that coconut palms, tropical comforts, poinsettia bushes, beach cabanas, fashion parades, de luxe horse parks and beautiful dolls don't make us a late scratch in the PIONEER program.

Hence this letter to our favorite real estate man:

Dear Jack, I'll take the villa again. I was hesitant on account of election speeches calling for a revival of pioneer spirit with new frontiers as the goal of all Americans.

I think the new President was right and at first I figured I'd be hot and uncomfortable in a coonskin hat, leather stockings and carrying a mule or two, a pickaxe and puppet as I braved the terrors of the trek to Hialeah, and struck out for perils of the white beaches, the strange tribes known as the Cabana Wild Men. But Jack, Dick and all the other political biggies making for Florida as soon as the polls closed have changed my mind. My conscience will permit me to come down again for the winter. I expect to arrive as soon as the airlines and trains are not so full of politicians nobody else can get a booking.

P.S.: Don't say too much about this. I don't like criticisms, so don't put up the old sign on the lawn. Just have a new one under the name of Daniel Boone or maybe Bill Cody.

ROBERT W. SARNOFF would shorten presidential campaigns at least six weeks, holding conventions in late August. This would give voters less reasons for getting so sore they would vote a dead heat for both candidate.

Polaris sub named George Washington is at sea as most powerful ballistic missile weapon in the world. We hope this doesn't destroy the image of Washington crossing the Delaware in a rowboat.

Russia has a new ruble but it won't pay its war debts or the U.N. dues in the old or new. From desk thumping by Khrushchev we thought he was an advocate of the "pound" rather than the ruble.

"...Suffer Little Children to Come Unto Me"

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

The voice of Cuba is not psychotic. It is narcotic. Fidel Castro is speaking from behind a cocaine curtain. There is more of this powerful drug pouring into Cuba, and being used there today, than in the rest of the world.

This drug from the cocoa leaf induces wildness of extremes. All this has its impact on Cuba's bureaucracy. All this can be checked out with Harry Anslinger, chief of the U.S. Federal Bureau of Narcotics.

Until the other week this division and the Treasury Department's Customs Service knew of at least one route heavily tread by the cocaine couriers—some of them were Communist agents, it can be presumed.

CUBA'S SUPPLY ran from Peru and Bolivia to Mexico City and then to Havana. There the government watched its distribution—with the top command echelons getting first share. The cocaine is churned into a paste. This is done in Peru and Bolivia where the coca leaves grow.

The paste then is flown into Mexico for refinement. Cocaine is sniffed rather than injected like its sister drug heroin.

The latter is used in the United States and on the continent more heavily than cocaine because the coca derivative literally induces madness in an addict.

Some months ago our Customs officials picked up an addict in the United States. He turned informer. It was he who revealed to our agents that the biggest refining center for drugs used in Cuba was in a certain building in Mexico City.

The customs men contacted the Mexican authorities. Together they "knocked over" the laboratory.

There they hauled in 14 kilograms of pure cocaine—enough for thousands of doses. This was the equivalent of 496 ounces.

This is more than world authorities have been able to seize in all the world during the past year.

Mexican authorities now are dragging their country. They don't want their nation to be the base of cocaine refining. Nor do they want it used "to hop up" the Cuban cadres now invading Central America.

AUTHORITIES questioned by this column said the drug could induce the type of frequently incoherent and disjointed diatribes launched against the United States by Cuban leaders.

Such experts as Mr. Anslinger tell me that the Cuban government can derive vast sums from under-cover control of the cocaine trade.

The "revolution" has other uses for it, too. There is a substantiated report that cocaine is being utilized in mass shanghaiing of dissenters—in Moscow they would be called deviationists.

There now is no doubt that the Castro regime is deporting hundreds of its original fighters to labor camps inside the Soviet Union. One group of observers put the figure at 500 men. They are drugged or slugged.

They are then put aboard the now almost endless chain of Soviet bloc freighters and tankers. Our off-shore intelligence people know that these original Fidelistas wind up in Russian work camps.

THIS HELPS solve two problems. It rids Castro of those who want to defy the Moscow and Peking "technicians" now running the Havana government, and since many of them are educated and skilled, the deviationists come in handy in skill-starved satellite nations.

If ever the rock of Castro is over-turned there will be seen crawling a world sufficiently weird to out-horror George Orwell's sadistic societies. And only 90 miles off shore.

Bishops Emphasize Responsibility of Free Men

When the Catholic bishops of the United States meet in Washington every year, they usually have something to say which is of interest not only to their co-religionists but to others as well.

The meeting which has just been concluded has resulted in a statement of significance to all Americans and to peoples everywhere.

For the bishops have placed an emphasis on "the personal responsibility of free men" which, while not spelled out in detail, has an implicit meaning of transcendent importance today.

The bishops, moreover, have put their finger on a weakness in many countries, including the United States, where there is a tendency to rely on organizations and economic pressure groups to obtain special favors and benefits.

There is not a word of politics in the bishops' statement but the text of it, when read carefully, has an indirect bearing on many subjects in the realm of education, labor and management, as well as of government.

"If our future is to be worthy of our past," said the statement, "if the fruit of America's promise is not to wither before it has reached full maturity, our present pre-eminent need is to reaffirm the sense of individual obligation, to place clearly before ourselves the foundation on which personal responsibility rests, to determine the causes of its decay and to seek the means by which it can be revived."

WHILE THE BISHOPS speak of the decline of personal responsibility in the family and the failure of parents to fulfill their responsibilities in the home, stress is placed on the "evidence of decline in the sense of responsibility within our industrial organization and in our general economic life." The declaration says:

"At a time when so much depends upon the soundness of our economy and upon our ability to produce to meet the needs of a rapidly developing world, we have been faced by a frequent lack of truly responsible leadership, both on the part of management and of labor."

"Among the evident instances of the breakdown of personal responsibility most deplorable has been the widespread cynical reaction to the recent revelation of dishonesty, waste and malfeasance in industrial relations."

Of significance, too, is what the bishops say about the pressures that "are growing for a constantly greater reliance on the collectivity rather than on the individual."

Their statement continues: "An inordinate demand for benefits, most easily secured by the pressures of organization, has led an ever growing number of our people to relinquish their rights and to abdicate their responsibilities. This concession creates a widening spiral of increasing demands and pressure with a further infringement on personal freedom and responsibility...."

Push-Button Climate

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Science now holds out the hope that man eventually will be able to control the weather.

This possibility, on the face of it, sounds like a great boon. But is it?

Do we really want a push-button climate as the final climax of a push-button world?

There is no doubt that the achievement of automatic weather by man would offer many advantages.

It would enable him to grow vastly larger crops, thus averting for a longer time the crisis of worldwide hunger being brought on by over-population.

It would help reduce his cost of living. He would need less clothing, less fuel for heating purposes—at least in his home. He would spend less for cold cure and cough drops.

It would enable him to reduce the rigors of both heat in summer and cold in winter, and perhaps give the whole world the year-round climate of a balmy South Sea island.

Doesn't it all sound wonderful? But the question remains—would it actually be so wonderful, assuming an unbridled science might manage to achieve these miracles?

Looking Backward

5 YEARS AGO — Mrs. James Schaefer spoke on "Creative Writing" when Xi Gamma Beta sorority met recently in the Ruth Smucker House.

10 YEARS AGO — Atty. W. J. Hunston was guest speaker at a meeting of Progressive Mothers club Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Glenn Broomall.

Barbs

You don't have to wait until any particular season of the year to can a certain brand of sour grapes.

"Intensive socialization can achieve mass benefits, but man and morality can be seriously hurt in the process."

A GREAT DEAL may be read into that particular paragraph in the light of recent pressures to have the government furnish financial aid "from the cradle to the grave" not only in this country but in Great Britain and in other countries of the world.

Pertinent, too, is the application by the bishops of the phrase "personal responsibility" to the conduct of international affairs. The statement says:

"This tendency to delegate excessive responsibility to an organization is discernible also in the realm of international affairs. Some manifest no sense of personal responsibility in the affairs of the international community. On the other hand, many citizens seem to feel that our mere adherence to the United Nations absolves us from further responsibility in the international order and that decisions made by the United Nations, regardless of their objective value, are always to be regarded as morally right."

The bishops concede the "undoubted value of a policy of supporting the United Nations," but insist nevertheless that citizen of the United States and of all countries "have a responsibility to judge and to evaluate the United Nations' deliberations and decisions according to objective norms of morality universally binding."

Perhaps the most interesting paragraph of all is what the bishops have to say about the tendency to regard everything that is happening today as different from the past and hence as justifying courses of expediency.

THE BISHOPS speak on that point as follows:

"Through a faulty concept of morality modern man has come to imagine that sudden and drastic changes in situations change principles; that principles no longer control situations but rather that situations shape principles. Inevitably this type of 'situational ethics' denies all unchanging principles and makes futile all moral judgments on which the sense of responsibility rests."

Really what the bishops say about principles not being outmoded by current developments might apply equally well to that school of thought which feels that the Constitution of the United States can be rewritten by the judges of the Supreme Court at any time, just because conditions have changed.

In their concluding words, the bishops point out that "an effective response to a call for personal responsibility need not wait for a mass movement." The message ends with this comment:

"Our appeal for action is made directly to our Catholic fellow citizens, but it reaches out also to all Americans who face the same problems as ourselves."

"Before it is too late, we must revive in our midst and present to the world the ideals that have been the real source of national greatness."

We already have done much to ameliorate the extremes of bad weather. We have air-conditioned houses, cars, theaters, offices, factories and bowling alleys to protect us from extreme high temperatures in July and August.

We have marvelous heating systems to warm our autos, our homes and our places of public work and assembly in winter. And millions now have the cash to flee south for a vacation week or two in January or February.

It is one thing to air-condition a home. It is quite another thing to seek to air-condition the world—hitherto regarded as a chore of God or nature.

Are we wise enough yet to make our own weather? Do we know enough yet about ourselves to even pick the weather which would be best for us?

Man has dreamed of an earth of flowering plenty bathed forever in a mild and beneficent sunshine. But is a satin security such as this the real answer to our life's true need?

It could turn out to be a lotus nightmare, the plethora of a poppled promise.

The rhythm of the changing seasons, some have held, is responsible for the vigor of people who dwell in a temperate climate. To do our best—and feel our best—we need an icicle time as well as a time of sunshine.

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann: You would be doing a lot of working people a favor if you'd publish this. Many college boys need to see it in print before they'll give it a thought. I'm a night club waiter in a city where there are many college students. I know many of these kids aren't rich — in fact some struggle to get by. But it seems unfair to take a date to a club and sit there a whole evening, getting service and then leave nothing for the waiter but a mess to clean up.

Most of these kids come in four and six together. You'd think they could order one drink less, and scrape together a dollar to give to a waiter or a waitress who serves them for three hours. They seem to think they are excused from tipping just because they're in school.

A waiter can handle just so many tables. In our club when one waiter gets four or five tables of college kids he knows he's going home with empty pockets. Is this fair? — D. D. W.

Dear D.D.W.: No it isn't fair and I agree that college kids who can scare up the loot for a night out would do well to order one drink less and leave a waiter something. In fact, they could order several drinks less and do THEMSELVES a favor.

He's An In-Law

Dear Ann: My husband and I are having a misunderstanding concerning a relative. Please settle it. My sister's husband brags a lot and gets on my husband's nerves. I say the guy is a brother-in-law to my husband. My husband says he is nothing. Who is right? — SWORD'S POINT.

Dear Point: You both could be right. The guy may be nothing — real nothing, that is! but men are brothers-in-law when they marry sisters.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with our problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By Dr. H. T. HYMAN
Faults of Mental Treatment

The general understanding and treatment of nervous and mental disorders have been more greatly advanced in recent years than in all recorded medical history. Yet you constantly hear complaints from reasonable people who have been unable to obtain satisfactory neuropsychiatric care for the themselves or for some member of their family or who have been disappointed at the wide gap between promise and fulfillment.

Perhaps the following explanations will help to lessen and even prevent some of these dissatisfactions and disappointments:

Mood drugs, shock treatment, and operative procedures (psycho-surgery) relieve only the symptoms not the disease. Like aspirin and related pain-killers, they sweep the manifestations under the rug.

In exchange for benefits obtained from each of these forms of symptomatic treatment, a penalty may be exacted. Mood drugs occasionally are habit-forming and frequently produce undesirable side effects. Although these side effects are usually of only minor importance, they may be serious and at times fatal.

SHOCK TREATMENT may be accompanied by dislocations and fractures. They frequently are followed by disturbances of memory. And psychosurgery often leaves the patient with a general flattening of personality, emotional expression and mentality.

Since none of these treatment methods is precise, it is impossible to predict in advance when the effort will be successful, whether wholly or by balance, and when partially or wholly unsuccessful or even harmful.

Consequently, the conscientious physician acts to protect his own and the patient's best interests when he postpones treatment until interested parties can be made acquainted with possible benefits and probable risks.

IN THE CASE of a disturbance that is not incapacitating, it is wise to heed the ancient teaching of "noli nocere" (Be ye unwilling to do harm).

In the case of a disturbance that incapacitates the patient and or threatens the peace and welfare of family or community, it is wise to consider the teaching of the Father of Medicine who "favored" desperate remedies for desperate situations.

If you are forewarned of the limitations and possible risks of treatment, you're not apt to be so dissatisfied or disappointed when the outcome isn't as favorable as you wished. And if you're one of the many who has profited, you have more cause for rejoicing.

I'll discuss psychotherapy in another column.

Eligibility for Social Security Disability Payments Broadened

Five full years of work covered by social security is enough to qualify a severely disabled worker for cash disability benefits, William J. McCauley, manager of the area social security office at Youngstown, reminded workers and their families.

The five years of work must be earned in the 10-year period just preceding the onset of the disability, and the disability itself must be of at least six months' duration and of sufficient severity that the insured worker is unable to do any kind of substantial work.

Until September of this year, no disability benefits could be paid to the disabled worker before his 50th birthday, but with the enactment of the 1960 amendments his age limit has been removed. Disability benefits for workers under 50 years of age who meet the requirements can begin with the month of November.

Before the enactment of the 1960 amendments, many disabled workers under 50 years of age had taken advantage of a provision to protect their future benefit rights. These persons will not need to furnish additional evidence of disability, but do need to file an application. Most of them have already received a letter giving them this information.

McCauley urges all disabled workers who believe they are eligible under the new law to inquire at the local office promptly if they have not already done so. He also points out that disability benefits are not paid in addition to old-age insurance benefits. Once a worker has reached age 65, disability benefits can no longer be paid. At that age the person receives old-age insurance benefits.

FAMILY EXPENSES GROWING?

Here's an income that can grow to help you meet them

Maybe there's nothing much you can do to stop family expenses from going up. But here's something you can do that might help your income increase, too.

A second income that can grow

Let's suppose you become a shareowner in a company that's well-managed and progressive. And it grows in size and profits. This means that your income from dividends can grow, too. And your stock might grow in value. You have a chance to grow as American business grows.

The growing number of investors

Today more than twelve million Americans are share-owners. In recent years there has been an average of 860,000 new investors annually. Nearly half of them earn from $5,000 to $10,000 a year. The first investments of practically all of them were small.

What about the risk?

Reduce it to a minimum by following these simple rules. Invest only with funds you don't need for current living or to provide for emergencies. Don't risk a penny without the facts. Tips and rumors are never enough. Stock prices fluctuate like the price of anything else.

Easiest and pleasantest of all, select a nearby Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange and drop in to get acquainted. The partner or registered representative who serves you there has met the Exchange's rules for knowledge, experience and character. He helps new investors every day. He'll be happy to help you. Ask whether preferred stock or bonds, with their relatively stable income, would suit you better.

What's the first step?

Give yourself the pleasure of reading our wonderfully useful booklet, "INVESTMENT FACTS." It lists some 375 common stocks that have paid a cash dividend every 3 months for 20 years or more. And it's packed with other useful information about such things as yield, earning power, changing prices and the Monthly Investment Plan. Through this plan you can acquire stock in some of America's greatest companies by investing with as little as $40 every three months.

Just send the coupon and we'll be glad to mail you a copy free. Why overlook the possibility of having a growing income to help you meet such future expenses as education, vacations and retirement.

Deaths, Funerals

Mrs. George Frankford

WASHINGTONVILLE — Mrs. Celestia Jane Frankford, 82, died of pneumonia Monday at 1 p.m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lloyd Firth of Guilford Lake, where she had resided the past three years.

Born in East Lewistown March 20, 1878, she was a daughter of William and Mary Larn Engler. She had lived in Washingtonville 45 years before moving to Guilford. She was a member of Robbins Memorial Methodist Church and the Pythian Sisters of Washingtonville.

Her husband, George Edward Frankford, died in 1938.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Firth, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Mildred Davis of Washingtonville; five grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

Service will be Thursday at 2 p.m. at the Woods Funeral Home in Leetonia, with Rev. R. E. Ferguson officiating.

Burial will be in North Lima Cemetery. Friends may call Wednesday evening at the funeral home, where Pythian Sisters will hold a memorial service at 8:30.

Congo

and discipline as his troops shut off traffic to Brazzaville, across the Congo River, and began stopping U. N. cars and searching passengers.

U.N. officials described the battle — the first during the five-month-long Congo crisis between U.N. troops and the Congolese army — as a "tragic mistake."

They said Alexander had arrived two hours before it started in a Soviet Ilyushin plane with orders to take Welbeck to Ghana. Before he could reach the residence of the charge d'affaires the shooting started.

U.N. sources said the first shot was fired about 7:40 p.m. Monday night by one of the Tunisians when several hundred steel-helmeted Congolese soldiers stormed the gate of the residence. Col. Koko was cut down then by machinegun fire. Firing was heaviest during the first hour, then turned sporadic the rest of the night.

The U.N. Command had placed soldiers at the residence to prevent a violation of Welbeck's diplomatic immunity. Already on hand was a squad of Ghana riot police.

During the fighting the U.N. Command agreed to Welbeck's expulsion. Indian Brig. Indarjit Rikhye, acting U.N. commander, arranged a ceasefire to bring him out, but was turned back by Congolese bullets when he tried to make his way to the building.

Rikhye insisted that Koko, not his superior Mobutu, had decided on the Congolese action. He claimed violation of the cease fire showed Mobutu had little if any control over his men. But the morning's developments indicated that Mobutu's orders were being obeyed.

The Congolese withdrew their ring around the Welbeck house immediately after he left. The last shot was fired about 7 a.m.

In Leopoldville U.N. officials expressed fears the shooting might spread to other parts of the capital and flare into a major war between the U.N. and Congolese armies. It was easily the most dangerous incident in the often stormy relationship between the U.N. Command and the Congolese since U.N. forces were sent here.

Symbol

jamin Martin, 37, Mrs. Martin's brother-in-law.

Only hours earlier, searchers near Eugene, Ore., found the bodies of a family of seven in Dexter Lake. Authorities said Howard R. Lemons, 29; his wife, 35; and their five children apparently drowned Sunday when their auto slid past a guard rail into the lake during a rainstorm. Their car was submerged, the family inside.

Mrs. John Eastman Monday attended funeral services for her husband, a Presbyterian minister, and their six children in Leiston, Minn. She was attending a school play Friday night when the Rev. Mr. Eastman bundled the children into the family car and set out for a friend's home. The car slammed into a bridge abutment and all were killed.

The first in the series of accidents claiming seven lives was Nov. 11, when Richard Chidester, 29; his wife, 25; her mother and four of their children were crushed to death by a semi-trailer truck in Illinois. The family was returning from Aurora, Ill., to their home in Elburn, Ill., after visiting Tommy Chidester, 1, in a hospital. Tommy is the sole survivor.

The fatal streak of 7s was broken Monday when a two-car crash in Iowa took four lives. Roland D. Potter, 29, of Carlisle, Iowa; his wife, Patricia Ann, 29; their son, Steven, 5, and Roland Dean Price, 21, of Hartford, Iowa, were the victims.

E. Palestine Agrees To Cemetery Care

EAST PALESTINE — City Council Monday evening passed legislation accepting Memorial Cemetery for upkeep by the city. Council also agreed to match a $500 donation by the local Historical Society for repair and restoration of the cemetery. The city will assume maintenance responsibility after the grounds have been renovated. The Historical Society's donation represents funds obtained from a number of local organizations.

Council was advised by the state that a permit to operate the sewage disposal plant has been extended for one year, to Oct. 15, 1961, pending carrying out of proposed improvements at the plant.

A communication was received from Columbiana County Commissioners seeking financial assistance toward organization of a county-wide Civil Defense unit. The letter was referred to committee.

Mayor Robert Harding requested Council consider granting a salary increase to Safety Service Director George McGuckin. Mayor Harding pointed out that inception of the $836,000 Light Plan improvement project would sharply increase the service director's duties. McGuckin's present salary is $6,370 per year. The request was referred to committee.

stallions and took seven water samples.

Stockdale made 45 food service inspections, 23 sewage inspections, nine nuisance inspections, 10 school inspections, two refuse inspections and took 16 water samples.

Dr. Palmer reported that he visited 10 schools and county nurse Violet Peterson 18 schools during the month. They administered 318 Mantoux tests, 192 polio shots, 102 immunizations and 28 vaccinations. They also gave to 106 first graders physicals. The county nurse made 23 home calls, he said.

Verdict Expected In Suit Against City

A verdict is expected today in Common Pleas Court in Lisbon in a $4,189.86 damage suit filed by Alfred Nichols Bakery of Navarre against the city of Salem as a result of damages to a trailer owned by the bakery which struck a tree limb on N. Lincoln Ave. May 28, 1959.

The bakery claims the city was negligent in allowing the branch to overhang on the traveled portion of the road. It claims $3,229.86 for damages to the trailer and $960 for the loss of its use for 48 days it was being repaired.

The jury was seated Monday by Judge Raymond S. Buzzard.

Zoning Change Hearing Scheduled on Tuesday

Public hearing for a change in zoning on E. Pershing St. from the intersection of Madison Ave. to the city limits will be held Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. in City Council chambers.

Council President Michael Schuller said this morning that the change has been requested so that a nursing home may be established in the area. He said residents of the area have objected to the proposal, thus a public hearing has been scheduled so that both sides may be presented.

Mr. Schuller said Council has not yet taken any action on the ordinance change. After hearing, Council will take appropriate action, he added.

Awards will be presented and co-captains named for the 1961 season. Announcement of the guest speaker will be made at a later date.

The past season was the fifth consecutive year the Bulldogs have either held or shared the Tri-County title.

Monday, all players including freshmen were guests at a dinner served by the Mothers Athletic Club.

Matter of Fact

Grounds for divorce are a matter of geography. In East Central Africa, a man who fails to sew his wife's clothes can be tossed aside. In many cultures women who fail to provide children, or whose children die, can be divorced.

"Nazi" was once just the German nickname for "Ignatz." When Hitler's party, Nationalsozialistische Deutsche Arbeiter-Partei, was coming into the news, obviously a shortened form of this name was needed. So party members took the first two syllables of the party name, which sounded like the familiar diminutive.

U.N. Delegates Head For Vote on Congo

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (AP) — Weary delegates headed for a vote today on whether to give the Congo's bitterly disputed U. N. seat to President Joseph Kasavubu.

Western delegates predicted he would win by a comfortable margin, but the issue was complicated by fighting in Leopoldville Monday night between U. N. troops and the forces of the Congolese army chief, Joseph Mobutu.

Kasavubu in a statement defended the action of Mobutu's army in using force in an effort to throw out a Ghanaian diplomat who has been acting as advisor to Patrice Lumumba, Kasavubu's rival.

The assembly resumes debate after a late night session in which several delegates pushed Kasavubu's candidacy.

Opponents of the move to seat Kasavubu contend that no action should be taken until the U. N. conciliation commission goes to the Congo to try to bring warring political factions together.

Two Are Penalized On Contributing Counts

EAST PALESTINE — Shirley Murphy, 23, and Floyd Bowles, 61, both of East Palestine, change their pleas of not guilty to guilty of contributing to the delinquency of minors in hearings held in Judge Louis Tobin's Court yesterday in Lisbon.

Miss Murphy was sentenced to a three-month stay in the Florence Crittenden Home in Youngstown, after which she will be sentenced to three months in the County Jail.

Floyd Bowles was sentenced to the County Jail, with sentence suspended pending good behavior, and his driver's license was suspended for four months. He was fined $200 and was ordered not to associate with any juveniles.

The two were participants in an alleged drink-sex ring here early in November.

5 Salineville Boys Receive Penalties

LISBON — Five Salineville area youths, aged 12 to 15, were ordered to pay damages at a hearing Monday before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for upsetting three outside toilets in Salineville recently.

The youths were apprehended by Salineville police. Judge Tobin placed them on probation to their parents.

Air Crash In Turkey Kills 3 Americans

KAYSERI, Turkey (AP) — U.S. and Turkish rescue crews today worked in rugged terrain to bring out the bodies of three Americans and two Turks killed in the crash of a light Army plane Monday.

Among the dead are Robert M. Carman, 44-year-old communications engineer with the National Scientific Laboratory in Washington, of 1742 Elmwood Ave., Defiance, Ohio, and Levi W. Boyce, 37, a civilian employed by the Army section of the Joint U.S. Military Mission for Aid to Turkey, of Waupaca, Wis.

The name of the American pilot was withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Also killed in the crash were a Turkish army master sergeant and a civilian interpreter.

The twin-engine plane was en route to eastern Turkey when it went down in rugged terrain. Reports from the area said the plane burst into flames as Turks from the tiny village of Kuseli worked to pull out the bodies. A team of members of the U.S. military mission set out for the scene today on horseback.

Fire Causes $100,000 Damage In Kent

KENT, Ohio (AP) — A fire that sent flames shooting as high as a 100-foot-tall grain elevator nearby destroyed a two-story brick and frame building on North Water street Monday night. Firemen made unofficial damage estimates of about $100,000.

The cause of the fire still was sought today. It began in the basement of the building, known as the Johnson Block. A dozen persons fled from the first-floor Seaver's Cafe, and three more escaped from the Moose Lodge clubrooms on the second floor. The Ohio Vented Awning Co. and rooms of Technocracy, Inc. also were in the burned-out building.

All Kent firemen fought the blaze, with help from departments at Ravenna and Cuyahoga Falls. It took more than two hours to check the blaze.

Much of the firefighters' efforts were directed toward keeping the fire from spreading to the huge grain elevator of Williams Bros. Inc. The elevator is only 10 feet from the building, which Williams Bros. also owned.

Legislators Speak At Chamber Luncheon

State Representatives Clarence Wetzel and J. Warren Bettis spoke to members of Salem Area Chamber of Commerce at the monthly dinner meeting Monday at the Lape Hotel.

Bettis, who was recently elected, said he hoped to do "what my campaign said." He stated he is "open to suggestion" from the citizenry and would welcome "constructive criticism."

Wetzel, who will begin his sixth consecutive term as a state legislator, said the General Assembly anticipates no new tax or finance bills in 1961. He said an attempt will be made to reduce gasoline and franchise taxes, and if this cannot be accomplished, the legislature will try to give cities in the state one per cent of gasoline taxes.

certainly at this time he did not contemplate appointing such a man, and I believe that the reasoning was that he did not contemplate setting up a man who would act between him and his staff, as I think the position has existed in this past (Eisenhower) administration."

Under Eisenhower, the job is held at present by Wilton B. Persons, once a major general on Eisenhower's Army staff, Person's predecessor, and perhaps the most powerful man in the position, was Sherman Adams, who resigned under fire in 1958 after charges he had accepted favors and had granted some, Adams denied any wrongdoing.

what he had in mind in speaking of new dimensions for new neighbors.

One idea discussed in conference corridors is a joint program of aid to underdeveloped countries.

Johnson was a focus of conference attention. Although he emphasized that he was here in his role of Texas senator to fulfill an engagement dating back to last year, other delegates persisted in thinking of him as the new vice president, a key personality in the new administration of John F. Kennedy, and the dominant figure in the United States Senate.

Salem Stamping, Old Dutch Beer and Meissner's Sohio broke on top with victories Monday is the opening night of action in the Salem Adult Basketball League.

Stamping upset last year's Class A champion, Herron Transfer, as Butch Platt, Bill Pauline and Fred Ackerman combined for 44 points in leading their team to a 58-55 victory.

Meissner's belted Coy Brothers 19 points for Coy Trucking but his individual effort wasn't enough to overcome the balanced attack of Meissner's.

Bowman, McNeely and Harshman all hit in double figures for Meissner's. Bowman led the way with 15.

Coy's moved out to a 15-7 first period lead but after a disastrous second quarter, found themselves behind 26-17 at halftime.

Ray Pinkerton's 13 markers and Jerry Binder's 12 paced the losers.

Sebring Cage Roster Lists One Letterman

The Sebring Trojans, a school with a reputation for holding its own on the basketball court against much larger opposition, appears to have its work cut out for it this year.

The Trojans won eight games and lost 12 last season, but things looked bright for 1960-61 as the three top scorers on the 1959-60 edition — Tom Baxter, Fred Brunner and Ray Dorr — were all scheduled to return.

However, the school district split last year found Baxter, who hooped 269 points, and Brunner, who was next high with 239 markers, both winding up on the West Branch side of the line.

THAT LEAVES Ray Dorr, 6-1 center, as the only returning letterman on the Sebring team. Dorr rang up 203 points last year, including 14 against the Salem Quakers.

Other seniors on the varsity roster are Jerry Greiner, 5-8, guard; Jim Akenhead, 6-2, forward; Joe Gaither, 6-2, center; Tom LeFevre, 6-1, forward; and Dale Mingledorff, 6-1, forward.

The three juniors on the varsity are Jerry Billingsley, 6-0, guard; David Zeppernick, 6-0, guard; and Jack Vernon, 5-9 guard. Sophomores are Rick Burns, 6-0, center; Dick Poorbaugh, 5-10, guard; and Ken Schneider, 5-10, forward.

Sophomores named to the reserve squad are Rick Burns, 6-0 center; Ken Schneider, 5-10, forward; Gary Baker, 5-11, forward; Fred O'Donnell, 5-7, guard; and John Boehm, 6-2, center.

ATHLETIC DIRECTOR Ray Schaefer has returned to head coaching duties with the Trojan cage squad, succeeding Alva Tetlow. Schaefer is being assisted by Wilson Stump, Joe Gaither and Clarence Boyle.

The Trojans will play an 18-game schedule, opening at home on Dec. 2 against Dennison St. Mary's. St. Mary's replaces Salem on the schedule.

Sebring plays three other non-Tri-County League teams, including Alliance, a club which the Trojans upset 60-48 in a tournament game last year.

Six-Man Battle Royal Billed

Salem's Frank 'Toar' Julian On Thursday Wrestling Card

Salem's Frank "Toar" Julian will headline the Thanksgiving Night professional wrestling card slated for the Hi-Neighbor Dance Hall.

Julian, who wrestles professionally under the name of Frank Marconi, is a veteran of the squared circle. The burly, 5-11, 255-pound grappler started wrestling at the age of 11 and turned pro when he was only 18.

Not only has Julian wrestled in nearly every state in the Union, but he has appeared on cards throughout the world. He won the South American International in 1942, competing against 35 other wrestlers.

A family man, Frank and his wife have a son, Jimmy, 9, and two daughters, Linda, 10, and Victoria, 2.

Julian's favorite hold is the hip lock which he applies with ease.

In Thursday's program, Julian will wrestle Leon Smith, 211, of Cleveland. Other bouts will pit Chris Papas, 205, of Greece against Tony Gardania, 220, of Chicago; and Billy O'Toole, 225, of New York City against Ed Pleata, 300, of Steubenville.

All six grapplers will then get into the ring together in a battle royal. The wrestlers will go at it until only one man is left in the ring and he will be declared the winner.

District Grid Season Closes; Ron McLaughlin Top Scorer

The district scholastic football season came to a close last weekend and the only major change in the standings which resulted from Friday's games came in the Tri-County League.

The Columbiana Clippers moved into a three-way tie for third place in that loop and knocked the Louisville Leopards all the way to sixth place.

The leading scorer in the district this season was Beaver Local's little senior scabbard, Ronnie McLaughlin, who tallied 19 touchdowns and 18 extra points for a total of 132 markers.

Salem's Quakers won the mythical Columbiana County title by compiling a season record of nine wins and one defeat.

Poland and East Palestine, battled to a grueling 6-6 tie and wound up with 6-0-1 record to tie for the loop title. East Palestine had copped the crown the four previous years.

Lowellville went through its second straight undefeated season and took down the Inter-County League title.

Warren St. Mary's won a big 22-12 game from West Branch early in the season and went on to take first place in the first year of Turnpike Conference operation. St. Mary's compiled a 7-2-0 season record and was undefeated in four conference games.

The loss to Warren St. Mary's was the only setback suffered by Coach Ralph Zurburg's West Branch powerhouse in 10 contests.

Here are the final standings of area teams and the top individual scorers:

U.S. Davis Cuppers Jump on Philippines

BRISBANE, Australia. (AP) — The Philippines' bold gamble on youth failed today and America zoomed to a 2-0 lead in the Davis Cup interzone semifinals on smashing singles victories by Barry MacKay and Earl Buchholz.

First MacKay of Dayton, Ohio, crushed 25-year-old Eddie Dungo, playing his first Davis Cup match 6-1, 6-2, 6-0. Then Buchholz of St. Louis, added to the rout by humbling 23-year-old Johnny Jose, 5-7, 6-1, 6-0, 6-2.

Jose seized the opening set from Buchholz on some sparkling play. But he lacked the experience to go all the way.

The two top-ranked Filipino aces, Raymundo Dero, 34, and Felicisimo Ampoyn, 40, were benched when the nonplaying Philippine captain, Al Del Rio, decided to gamble with his youngsters.

The Americans now need only one more victory, which likely will come Wednesday when Dennis Ralston, Bakersfield, Calif., and Chuck McKinley, St. Louis, play Jose and Dungo in doubles, to advance to the interzone final against Italy's European champions. The last two singles against the Philippines will be played Thursday.

The survivors of the interzone series will attempt to wrest the big tennis trophy from Australia in the challenge round at Sydney, Dec. 26-28.

Two Salem Athletes Invited to Pitt Campus

Don Davidson and Ron Janovec, two Salem High athletes highly sought after by colleges throughout the country, were guests of the University of Pittsburgh at the Panthers football game Saturday against Penn State. Quaker grid coach Blaine Morton accompanied the two Salem stars to Pittsburgh.

Fred Harshman, who like Davidson and Janovec just finished his second year as a regular on the Salem football team, reports that he has tentative plans to attend Indiana University next fall.

Iowa, Mississippi Hot on Trail
Of Gophers; Ohio State Placed Ninth

Minnesota leapt back into first place in the weekly Associated Press football rankings today as the fight for the national college championship headed into a photo finish.

The coveted title will be decided on the results of next week's final AP poll of the season.

Minnesota barely edged out Iowa and Mississippi for the No. 1 spot. The Gophers finished with 424½ points to 417½ for second-place Iowa, Mississippi, in third place, had 398 points.

Arkansas, the Cotton Bowl host, was sixth, followed by Navy, Auburn, Ohio State and Kansas.

Minnesota and Iowa have finished their seasons, each with an 8-1 record and tied for the Big Ten championship.

Blue-Gray Game Coaches Selected

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — Three of the South's leading college coaches will coach the Gray team for the 23rd annual Blue-Gray game here Dec. 31.

Appointment of Paul Dietzel of LSU, Wallace Butts of Georgia and Frank Hildebrand of Wake Forest was announced by Blue-Gray officials Monday.

Signing of three of the nation's top passers for the South also was announced. They are Francis Tarkenton of Georgia, Jerry Eisman of Kentucky and Norman Sneed of Wake Forest.

Blue team coaches, named earlier, are Ben Schwartzwalder of Syracuse, Jack Mollenkopf of Purdue and Don Faurot of Missouri.

Arnold Palmer Eyes Mobile Open Tourney

MOBILE, Ala. (AP) — Arnold Palmer has his eye on the $2,000 top prize money in Mobile's Sertoma Open Golf Tournament for more than one reason.

The Ligonier, Pa., ace needs only about $1,000 more in winnings this year to put him at the head of a list of all-time professional golf money winners. His winnings this year are more than $70,000.

Palmer led the touring pros into Mobile Monday, and several of them turned up over the par 72 municipal golf course.

The $15,000 tournament begins Thanksgiving Day with the championship to be decided Sunday.

Blackburn Undecided About Future Job

CINCINNATI (AP) — George Blackburn, who has quit as the University of Cincinnati's head football coach, says he will have to do "a little thinking" about his future. Blackburn told the U.C. Boosters Club Monday he still has no plans. But he has indicated he wants to stay in coaching.

In response to questions Blackburn said that if he gets a job which permits him to do so he intends to ask members of his staff at Cincinnati to join him. He pointed out, however, that Cincinnati is committed to retain his staff at least until June 1.

FALSE TEETH That Loosen Need Not Embarrass

Many wearers of false teeth have suffered real embarrassment because their plate got loose, slipped or wobbled at just the wrong time. Do not live in fear of this happening to you. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder, on your plates. Hold false teeth more firmly, so they feel more comfortable. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). Get FASTEETH at any drug counter.

ALL-WESTERN CONFERENCE-1960

Two OSU Backs Named All-Big Ten

By JOE MOOSHIL

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Co-champions Iowa and Minnesota and powerful Ohio State dominate the 1960 All-Big Ten football team named today by The Associated Press.

Iowa grabbed three berths while Minnesota and Ohio State took two each on the team compiled from a survey of Associated Press Big Ten football writers and The AP's regional All-American board.

Minnesota guard Tom Brown and Purdue tackle Jerry Beabout are the only unanimous choices. Illinois tackle Joe Rutgens is the lone repeater from the 1959 team.

Iowa and Ohio State take care of the backfield, built for power plays. Wilburn Hollis and Larry Fergusson are the Iowa selections and Tom Matte and Bob Fergusson the Ohio choices. The backfield averages 200 pounds and is made up of juniors except for Matte, a senior.

Aside from Brown, Beabout and Rutgens, the line includes Earl Faison of Indiana, guard Mark Manders of Iowa, center Greg Larson of Minnesota and end Elbert Kimbrough of Northwestern.

The trend of power football is quite noticeable in comparison with the 1959 team. The 1960 line averages 223½ pounds; the 1959 average was 212 pounds. Last year the backfield averaged 184 pounds—16 pounds a man less than this year.

This was a year of quarterbacks and fullbacks in the Big Ten. Except for Iowa's Larry Fergusson, every back named on the first three teams was either a fullback or quarterback.

The second team backfield includes Ron Miller of Wisconsin, Bernie Allen of Purdue, Bill Brown of Illinois and Willie Jones of Purdue. The third team backs are Dick Thornton of Northwestern, Sandy Stephens of Minnesota, Joe Williams of Iowa and Mike Stock of Northwestern.

Rounding out the second team are ends Pat Richter of Wisconsin and Tom Perdue of Ohio State; tackle Jim Tyrer of Ohio State and Frank Brixius of Minnesota; guards Mike Ingram of Ohio State and Ron Malton of Purdue and center Jerry Smith of Michigan.

Richter and Perdue were tremendous players until slowed by injuries. They would have made end selections on the first team much more difficult had they played the entire season.

Iowa and Ohio State relied mainly on their ground game.

Hollis and Larry Fergusson were explosive factors in the Hawkeyes' attack. Ohio State, ignoring its halfbacks, stuck with Matte and Bob Fergusson. All four backs were among the league's rushing leaders.

Minnesota's comeback from last place in 1959 to a title share in 1960 was made possible by powerful line play in which Brown was a key factor. Players and coaches sang Brown's praises and called him one of the nation's great football players.

Chamberlain Holds NBA Scoring Lead

NEW YORK (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain of Philadelphia has regained the National Basketball Association individual scoring lead despite a tremendous scoring spree by Elgin Baylor of Los Angeles.

Chamberlain leads the West Coast flash 549-513, but the Philadelphia has played one more game than Baylor, who set an NBA single game record by scoring 71 points against New York last week, and got 52 in another game.

Baylor, however, has averaged 35.64 points a game to 36.60 for Chamberlain. Both marks are the highest in the 15-year history of the league.

Oscar Robertson of Cincinnati continues in third place with 483 points.

ABC Tourney Entries Still Being Accepted

The 1961 American Bowling Congress tournament was nearly three-fourths filled today although the entry deadline still is more than two months away, it was announced by Frank K. Baker, ABC executive secretary.

Pre-tournament headquarters in Detroit has processed 4,655 team entries for the Regular and Booster divisions. This is approximately 73 per cent of the team entries for which the tournament is scaled. Entries are now being accepted on a first come, first served basis through Jan. 31.

Tom Matte Drafted By New York Titans

DALLAS (AP) — Quarterback Tom Matte and tackle Jim Tyrer of Ohio State have been drafted by the American Football League. Matte was a draft choice of New York and Tyrer was drawn by the Dallas club. They were picked Monday in the first five rounds of the draft. Another round will be held today, leaving 24 rounds to be conducted at the league meeting in Dallas in mid-December.

Bednarik Sends Regrets To Gifford

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Chuck Bednarik, the Philadelphia Eagles linebacker whose jarring tackle put halfback Frank Gifford of the New York Giants in the hospital Sunday, has sent Gifford a basket of fruit with a card attached expressing his regrets.

"Sorry that you're in the hospital and I hope you get out soon enough to play your usual great game on Sunday," Bednarik said in the card sent to the hospital in New York.

The fruit and card were sent out before it was disclosed that Gifford will be sidelined for 30 days. The star suffered a deep concussion but no permanent injury.

When told that Gifford would be lost for 30 days, Bednarik said: "That's real tough. I feel sorry for him. We football players all have families and we play this game for a livelihood. It's not funny to get hurt."

Stormy Meeting Expected Today

Battle Rages Over
AL Expansion Plan

Scheffing Named
To Manage Tigers

DETROIT (AP)—Bob Scheffing steps into one of baseball's most dangerous managerial jobs in Detroit with no illusions he'll be an overnight miracle man.

The Tigers hired him Monday as their eighth manager since 1952, knowing it'll take time—perhaps several years—before they can challenge for a pennant.

Tiger President John Fetzer spoke of how well Scheffing handles young players. Fetzer said he is patient enough to await their development.

He broke a long-standing club policy of one-year contracts and signed Scheffing through 1962.

Scheffing, 45, was manager of the Chicago Cubs for three seasons, 1957-59. The turnover on the Cubs is about as quick as with Detroit, and second-division finishes are as frequent.

"I don't feel I'm qualified to talk about the Tigers' problems right now," said Scheffing, who will receive a reported $35,000 a year.

"I'm no miracle man, but I've always wanted to manage a young team and I'm sure it'll improve."

Cage, Volleyball Clubs
Can Still Enter Leagues

C. F. "Rusty" Tomlinson, manager of the Memorial Building, reports that 11 volleyball teams and four slo-break basketball squads have indicated that they intend to enter the city leagues this year.

Teams have been given until 9 p.m. Wednesday to officially enter the leagues.

Only One Senior on Roster

Penguin Cage Squad
Boasts 8 Lettermen

With the basketball opener less than two weeks away, Coach Dom Rosselli is busy preparing his 1960-61 edition of the Penguins.

A fairly young team that has only one senior, the current band of Penguins has eight lettermen and five freshmen listed on the varsity roster. Rosselli indicates that he hasn't decided on a starting five and the season might be a few weeks old before he makes up his mind. YU opens its season Dec. 1 at home against Ashland College.

Howie McElroy, the only sure starter, returns for his third year as a first team guard and gives Rosselli an experienced back court man that can score. Mac finished second in team scoring last year with 294 and directs the offensive moves of the Penguin in attack.

Another almost certain fixture in the starting five will be Charley Day, the 6-6 center from Pittsburgh Schenley. Day improved rapidly last year and with the added year of experience should be a main cog in the YU machine. Day will be counted on to clear the boards and his scoring talent was a pleasant surprise last year as he collected 22 points.

A PAIR OF junior letterwinners, Bob Chary (Brownsville, Pa.) and Larry Galick (Springdale, Pa.) saw plenty of action last year but will have to hustle to gain starting

IBOP Opens Talks With Six Firms

CLEVELAND (AP)—The International Brotherhood of Operative Potters opened negotiations Monday with six chinaware companies on a contract to replace one expiring Nov. 30.

The union already is in negotiations with another and larger employer group in the pottery field, the U.S. Potters Association (USPA) which represents dinnerware manufacturers employing more than 4,000 workers in nine plants. Those negotiations recessed Nov. 4 and will resume after the Thanksgiving holiday, Clair Willmeth, federal mediator, said. That contract also expires Nov. 30.

Two weeks ago the union announced it will follow a "no contract, no work" policy if its two-year agreements expire. Willmeth offered Monday to assist if needed in the chinaware companies' negotiations as he already is doing in the union's bargaining with the USPA.
